Lecture on Statistics before the Statistical Society by the Hon. Alexander Delmar, Statistician.

Our Government has not only a Statistician. but its Statistician has a Statistical Society, which meets on Saturday nights at the City Hall, and listens to lectures on Statistics from the Statistician, whose name is Delmar-"Hop. Alexander Delmar, Director of the Bureau of Statistics, Treasury Department, Washington,

The Hon. Alexander Delmar is President of the Statistical Society; we believe that he is also the Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Librarian and Board of Directors. Altogether. the Statistical Society is reputed to be a curious institution, and seeing it announced in the In-telligencer that the S. S. would meet, and be addressed by its President, we dispatched a rereporter was charged fifty cents admission fee, he thinks that statistics must be looking up; but the delighted grin with which the colored anitor received the money gives occasion for doubt whether it was not the first and only admission fee yet received.

The Statistical Society rallies in the Criminal Court room. On entering, our reporter found three male statisticians present, and two ladies who wore spectacles, and having quite a statistical appearance, may be set down also as statisticians. In the course of twenty minutes eight or ten more statisticians dropped in, including another lady, Miss Josephine Griffing, President of the Woman's Rights Association. The prisoner's dock was occupied by an old gentleman, who sat muffled up in his overcoat, and nad a very comfortable nap during the lecture, turning his back, we regret to say, towards the honorable lecturer. The well-known seat of Mr. Middleton, Clerk of the Court, was occupied by Prot. Wilcox, of Mr. Delmar's Statistical Staff, a spectacled gentleman, quite statistical in style and manner. The statistical business must be bad for the nerves. Prof. Wilcox is an amazingly fidgety sort of body. He came in with a lady, this lady he introduced to another lady, then he got a seat for his lady, then he took off his overcoa looked in the sleeves of his overcoat, held his overcoat up by the collar, put his overcoat down, took off his hat, looked at his hat in a statistical sort of way, then placed his hat and overcoat on the iron register, contemplated them on the iron register, shook his head, removed them to chair, contemplated them in the chair, shook his head, then removed them to a corner behind the clerk's desk, where he allowed them to remain. Then he proceeded to the lecturer's desk, arranged it, contemplated the arrangements with a dissatisfied air, rearranged it, then came down to Mr. Middleton's seat. squared himself towards the audience, then towards the Hon. A. D., then espying our reporter he approached him, and taking the adja-cent chair seated himself on our reporter's new silk hat, which our reporter had paid six dollars for, and which he hastened to rescue, and only succeeded after a strenuous pull, and thea in a mashed and ruined condition. Prof. W., thout making any apology for mashing our porter's new hat, proceeded to inquire, reporter's new hat, proceeded to inquire, "What paper do you represent?" The reply was, "The STAR."

The Professor then said: "Tell your people they have put their foot into it by pitching into Mr. Delmar." Our reporter remarked, "Ah, indeed!" "Yes, sir," said the Professor, "you have charged Mr. Delmar with things which I wrote myself." Our reporter made answer, cial Science Review. I stop at the Empire House. A note will reach me there," Our reporter responded, that he was not aware that any person connected with the STAR was anxious to address a note to Prof. Wilcox, at the Empire House, and that the authorship of the statistical matter referred to (and which reflected no credit on anybody) was claimed by Mr. Delmar in the pamphlet referred to Prof. Wilcox looked at our reporter with a dissatisfied expression of countenance, rubbed his nose in an abstracted, statistical sort of way, and presently meandered off again to Mr. Middleton's seat.

Meantime the President (Hon. A. Delmar) who was seated approximately near the centre of Judge Cartter's ample chair, stroked his beard and waited patiently for an audience. Behind him was a black-board, and on the desk before him was placed a large green bottle, and by it two glass tubes, connected by a rubber pipe, the whole arrangement presenting the appearance of some complicated chemical apparatus. It was surmised that this concern was some ingenious machine for the propaga tion of statistics, and that it would play a conspicuous part in the lecture, but the speaker made no allusion to it whatever during the evening. At 8 o'clock, sixteen persons, including our reporter, a white boy and the colored doorkeeper, were present, and Prof. Delmar entered upon his lecture. It was an exceed. ingly scattery affair, and the lecturer was continually flying off at a tangent from his immediate subject in the oddest manner imaginable. It may interest those inclined to hero-worship to know that the President of the Statistical Society and Director of the Bureau bearing that name is about five feet four inches in height, weighs about one hundred pounds; is of dark complexion, full beard and heavy eyebrows, which meet on the forehead. Owing to the elevation of the judge's desk and the short range at which his audience of sixteen had clustered in the vicinity of the bench, it was not easy for the lecturer to make himself visible: but he got over the difficulty by rising on tiptoe at the most emphatic passages, which occurred quite frequently. The subject of the lecture was announced to be "Taxation." He commenced by saying that the confusion of tongues since the building of the tower of Babel was thought by many to be a punishment to the people, but he regarded it as a blessing. The identity of our language with that of Great Britain had kept our noses to the grindstone; the knife with which we were to cut loose from Great Britain had not yet been sharpened. Physiology taught persons that the milk which a child consumed went to make up the physical and even the mental life. It was carefully enjoined upon all to let children nurse their own mothers; the system of wet nurses was to be deprecated We had an internal revenue system which says to the distiller you have manufactured eleven gallons of whisky, now give me ten, and you can keep the other one for yourself, but you must be honest; don't pay me in goods, I prefer money, and if convenient don't mix any. On thing more, you must be watched. Your still must be guarded. You must be branded not brandied. [Laughter by Prof. Wilcox.] You must be sworn and re-sworn; this is what the law says, and it further says, "I will concoct some new regulations, and have several new volumes written for your government; pay this tax now; see how I make you a good citizen.' Charles Dickens, it was well known, is doing all in his power to have an International Copyright law passed. It would be a great thing if accomplished. From 1766 to the present time the world had been ruled by Adam Smith. As a general thing man gets about what he is Worth. All this arises from mutual com-The maxim of Adam Smith that taxation should fall equally upon all men was good enough in England, but not good here. Adam Smith's four maxims were incomplete, and are unsuitable to this country. They did not provide against: 1. Abuse of tax power; 2. A distorted plan of taxation; 3. Sudden or snap tax legislation: 4. Indefinite or uncertain taxes; 5. Over taxation; 6. Undue or partial taxation; 7. Uneconomical taxes; 8. So called "moral" and "perceptive" taxation. In 1864, when the tax on whisky was raised from 20 to 60 cents per gallon, there was enough whisky which paid the lower tax to last the country for eighteen months. Again, when the tax on ten was raised from 15 to 25 cents per pound, there was none imported for some time afterwards. We had tax laws framed to prevent women from wearing silk dresses, or a bit ofribbon. Adam Smith's maxims did not war-rant that. If there were five hundred men in this country, and the Government wanted to raise $500, and should get $5 from the first man, $5 from the second, and so on, the $500 would soon be said, and yet many would not have paid anything. The ability of people to yield revenue depended upon what it was to be used for. He was willing to risk his reputation that the surplus earning of a nation was identified with its net rate of interest, which, in this country, was about four per cent. The capital stock of this country he knew was about one hundred and eighty thousand millions of dollars which at four per cent. shows seven hundred and twenty millions. (Here the learned Statistican put down "180,000 m," on one side of the black board, and "720 m" on the other.) Tax a man $10 on a cigar and he will stop smoking. Such he believed was the case in Boston city. No, they did not tax a man but imposed a fine for smoking. In virture of his office as a lecturer he felt bound to enter his protest against the declaration that the tax law has any other object but to raise money. So many little articles worn by the ladies that men love to look upon are loaded down with taxes they cannot be worn. A distinguished lady of Boston once said she would rather give up her life than the refinements of a chamber, and man that he was he confessed the same. In 1792 there were four million of people of this country and 12 millions gallons of whisky were consumed. In 16 1 there were thirty-one millions of reople, and ninety four millions of gallons of which consumed, hence the average was three gallons of whisky to each person. [One of the audience who oc cupied a back seat here got up hastily, as if reminded of something, and left the room.] Pianos and bilitard tables are remotely con-nected with articles of consumption, and they are heavily taxed; pianos, however, are more in use than billiard tables. Balmoral skirts are taxed by the pound, yet they were bought and sold by the yard. Spain to-day is a coun-try of the fifteenth century. Are shawls wear-ing apparel, or are they clothing? Are shoes lined with wool, shoes or wearing apparel He then announced he would give a poser, and asked—Are olives, olives pickled or pickled olives? [Laughter by Prof. Wilcox.] Taxes on real estate were difficult to collect; so were direct taxes. The history of taxation was divided into three epochs—1st. The age of force. 2d. The age of subtleness; and, 3d. The age of justice. The age of force had passed. The age of subtleness we now live in, and the age of justice is yet to come. He announced that he would close his lecture by reading an article by the irrepressible Sydney Smith, which appeared in the Edinborough Review. The Hon. A. D. read the familiar article upon "Taxation," and took his seat amid applause by Prof. Wilcox. The old gentleman in the prisoner's dock awoke much refreshed, and the audience dispersed.

Altogether, the lecture struck our reporter as an unique affair, and the Statistical Society as another. But is not fifty cents admission rather hefty" for the entertainment, oh, Director A D., or was it designed as a practical illustration of the subject, "Taxation !

Sixth Ward Anti-Radical Club.

Last evening the second meeting of the Sixth Ward Anti-Radical Club was held at Odd Fellows' Hall, corner of 8th and G streets, Navy Yard-Mr. John Little, President, in the chair, and James M. Dalton, Secretary. Mr. Dalton, from the committee on the con-stitution, reported that the Western States Anti-Radical Club were preparing a general plan of organization for all anti-Radical clubs. and the committee would prefer to wait until that constitution was prepared; he therefor moved that the committee be continued. Mr. Hanna moved that a committee be appointed to select officers for the permanent

Mr. Dalton said that there was time enough o make the selections, and proceeded to explain that the present organization was only temporary, and when the month was up for which the temporary organization was effected permanent officers would be elected. Mr. Hanna thought that the committee core appointed to make the selections.

Mr. Dalton.—If you want to get rid of the President, why don't you impeach him? but if you do it, you should do it better than Congress. [Laughter.] The term of the present officers was short, and he hoped that by the time the club is to organize permanently, they would have every anti-Radical in the ward on the roll. It was the determination of those who started the club to keep it going during the campaign, and for that purpose they had rented the Hall

The secretary here took the following names: John E. Little, C. H. Beall, J. A. McCathran, J. M. Dalton, Ed. Wayson, A. G. Pumphrey, W. C. Hanna, Chas. McGowen, Peter Lynch. Wm. Talbert, Wm. Hrgh Cameron, of the Western States Club, entered the hall, and, being introduced, addressed the club on political topics, in th course of which he said: To show what Republican rule here would be, it was only ne-cessary to refer to the action of Senator Pomeroy and Representative Clark, who are en deavoring to introduce new degradation fo our people; for they were not satisfied with imposing negro men's votes on us, but wanted negro women to vote too. Notwithstanding they had spent forty-five days in stumping th State, they had been repudiated in Kansas. At the conclusion of General C.'s remarks. rote of thanks was tendered him.

Mr. Dalton moved that the board of officer: be constituted an executive committee to invite persons to attend the meeting and become mem bers of the club.

Mr. Dalton said that there could be no don of the necessity for organizing. The rights of the people have been trampled upon, and our beautiful metropolis made a poor-house for Virginia and Maryland negroes, who were get ting so particular and independent that the turn up their noses at that which poor white people are glad to accept, for he knew of a part of darkies who came from the lower countie of Maryland for alms, who, on visiting a soup house, not finding the soup good enough f them, poured it out in the gutter, and held ar indignation meeting on the curb-stone, threat ening to tear the soup-house down. There were now but few of those elected on the Radical ticket to the Common Council whose position was known, and the principles of others seemed to be the whitewashing of Register Boswell. In regard to the consolidation question, they were divided, and the anti-Radicals, if they worked, in his opinion, could easily carry the lection. Adjourned.

FOURTH WARD DEMOCRATIC CLUB .- The egular meeting of the Fourth Ward Democratic and Conservative Club was held last evening, the President, Owen Thorn, Esq., in the

Mr. Dennis McNamara asked what had become of the Vice-President, Mr. Geo. G. Wilson. The special committee of nine to canvass the ward had not been able to meet because they had no presiding officer. Several members of the committee were at the hall last week, but could hold no meeting on account of the absence of the Vice-President. If he could not attend the meetings another chairman should e elected.

Mr. A. Gleason moved to discharge that special committee, and appoint a new commitee who would attend to the business. He made a motion to that effect; which was adop-

Mr. McNamara said tour members of that committee had taken some interest in their business, and had a list of 175 names who did not register last year, but the other members took no interest, and would not work, so the work of canvassing was stopped.

The Chair suggested that the club name the members of the new committee. Mr. John Houlahan did not see the use in ap pointing another committee. A majority would be the same old members, and no work would Mr. A. Gleason said the Chair would hav more sense than to reappoint the old committee Mr. John Houlahan thought those member: of the committee who did not attend the meet ings were the greatest ones for complaining. Mr. John Hogan moved that a committee of nine, to can vass the ward, be appointed; which Mr. Gleason moved that the appointment of the committee be postponed until the next meet-

Mr. John Hogan moved that the executive committee be instructed to appeal to the other wards, and get them to organize.

Mr. J. Darby thought it very much out of place for the executive committee of the Fourth Ward to appeal to the other wards, when they were doing so little in the Fourth Ward. The example should be shown in this ward, and then ask other wards to organize. The Chair thought this club was doing some good. An appeal could be made to the other wards, and, if they would organize. a central association could be formed. Mr. Michael Connell said the ward had been can vassed, and it was known how many voters there were in the ward. He thought that was working in the right direction, and now efforts should be made to get every ward in the city organized. Mr. A. Gleason inquired what had become f the public speakers who were to be invited. Mr. Connell said there were gentlemen outside of the club who were doing more for the club than those in it Mr. McNamara thought there was no necessity for speakers; the club could speak for The motion of Mr. Hogan to request the wards to organize was adopted. The Chair suggested that the Executive Com mittee meet and draw up a short circular to be transmitted to the other wards, requesting them to organize. Mr. McNamara thought Congress might gran a new charter before the next meeting, and he suggested that the club meet the night after charter should be granted. The Chair said the Executive Committee could call a meeting if necessary. Adjour ned

The Workingmen's Assembly. The regular monthly meeting of this organization was held at the City Hall last evening,

J. W. Mattingly presiding, and W. Wroe acting as secretary.

The credentials of John T. Young, Rober Tatterson and Michael Ford, from the Granit Cutters' Union, were presented and referred to the Committee on Credentials, who reported avorably thereon, and they were admitted Mr. Wroe stated that the committee to urge the passage of the eight-hour law by Congress had waited on several Congressmen. He was confident that the bill would pass the Senate. On request, further time was granted the committee to urge the passage of the bill.

Mr. Flynn, from the Committee on Finance.

submitted a report, which, on motion, was recommitted to the committee. Mr. J. J. Mitchell, from the Committee on Mass Meetings, reported that the committee had been diligent in holding mass meetings and organizing auxilliary labor associations They tempted to start a workingmen's association on the Island, but failed. There was a vacancy on the committee, and, on motion of Mr. Mitch ell, the filling of the vacancy was postponed.

Mr. Mitchell offered the following: Whereas, An association known as the 'Master Builders Union' has recently been organized in this city, avowing hostility to all "Trade organizations," and declaring among other things, the determination of resisting the establishment of the eight hour system in the District of Columbia: be it therefore

Resolved, That we, the delegates of 13 trade organizations here assembled, do declare that we will never relax our efforts until eight hours is established in the District of Columbia and that we will use every exertion in our power to counteract the influence of the "Mas-ter Builder's Union" when directed against the establishment of the same; and further, that we pledge our undivided support to any organizations who are driven to resist the unjust exactions of the above named organization. Resolved, That the thanks of this assembly are hereby tendered to Mr. John F. Collins for his able and eloquent speech in defence of our Trade organizations and their objects, as deliv-ered by him at a meeting of the "Master Build-The Secretary, by request of Mr. Mitchell read from the STAR's report of the meeting of the "Master Builders' Union" Mr. Collins Mr. Mitchell said the thanks of the laboring men were due to Mr. Collins for the remark that "if the master mechanics would approach that "If the master mechanics would approach the journeymen in a right spirit, there would be no need of strife or conflict. Journeymen have rights as well as their employers."

Mr. Beron said these men had set themselves up as "masters." He would like to know over whom they were masters; surely not over white men. He could not acknowledge that they were masters over the journeymen.

Mr. J. J. Mitchell said that the fact was now before them that an organization had been formed in this city, the ultimate object of which was to crush the workingmen of the city. He characterized the action of those men in forming the society at this time as a cowardly action. Poverty and want were now stalking through the city, and they had taken the opportunity to form such an organization because work was scarce and spring about opening. Mr. McCathran said that the disease had been brought from over the pond. The moneyed men would find it a difficult job to fight the workingmen of this country. If it was any satisfaction for such men to get up a mutual admiration society, and meet once a week to ters," let them do it, but let them also keep clear of the workingmen. That term master, he said, had been stricken from the American

The preamble and resolutions were unani mously adopted. The Committee on Finance submitted report, and urged the appointment of a Finany. The report was adop Mr. Mainy moved the appointment of a committee to draw up an address to the working. men of the city, urging them to sustain the trade unions.

Mr. Beron stated that next summer the would be an abundance of work: more than the journeymen would be able to do. He spoke of the course of the newspapers in showing to the people the worse side of the picture; saying they would note every case of suffering, and attempt to show that the distress in the country was greater than it really was. Mr. McLean claimed that Mr. Beron was on of order in repeatedly assailing the newspa-pers. They had not met for that purpose; but to promote the interests of the workingmen. The gentleman seemed to have a particular animosity against newspapers, but he was out of order in displaying it at the meetings of the Assembly. He hoped he would refrain from venting his spleen on newspapers. The business of this assembly was to make friends and not enemies. Mr. Mitchell was not in favor of making war upon newspapers. But he thought it his privilege and duty to correct erroneous state ments concerning the workingmen which might be published in the newspapers. Mr. Flynn said it was necessary that the ourneymen should not make war upon the press. If they attempted that they should expect to meet war in return. If they could not reat the newspapers fairly they would not have fair dealing in return. They depended upon the newspapers to publish their proceed ings and movements throughout the land. Mr. Rothwell was wholly opposed to the coarse pursued by Mr. Beron. The Assembly had successfully transacted its business hereto fore without making war on any class. W can retain the goodwill of our employers an others, and at the same time make a firm but respectful demand for what the necessities of the times requires, as also the adoption of the eight-hour system.

The motion of Mr. Mainy on the matter wa laid over for one week.

Mr. Flynn moved that the proposed amend ment to the constitution providing for the election of a Financial Secretary, and defining his duties, be adopted. Carried. Mr. D. McCathran moved that the amend ment to the Constitution striking out the Exec utive Committee be laid over; carried. Mr. Flynn moved that the Assembly proceed to elect a Financial Secretary; which motion was carried, and Mr. Geo. Cook, of the Bricklayer's Union, was elected. Mr. Beron arose and moved that the reporter of the press be requested to exclude from their reports all remarks relating to newspapers

Not seconded. The Financial Secretary was then conducte to his seat by Messrs. Canfield and McLean. Mr. McLean spoke of a bill offered in th Eoard of Aldermen on the 10th of February and offered the following resolution: Resolved, That the thanks of this assembly be and are hereby tendered to Mr. Donald Mc Cathran, of the Board of Aldermen, for his zea in behalf of the eight hour movement, as ev denced by the introduction in that Board of bill requiring all Corporttion work, &c., to b done by the day, and eight hours to constitute legal day's work. The resolution was unanimously adopted and after the auditing of several bills, the as sembly adjourned.

MASONIC MATTERS IN THE DISTRICT .- The yearly report of the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia, which has just been published, shows that the fraternity has steadily increased in membership and finances, all the lodges being in a prosperous condition. Funeral of the late Philip R. Fendall. The funeral of the late Philip R. Fendall took place at noon to-day from his late residence. opposite the City Hall, and was attended by a very large concourse of citizens, among whom we noticed Judges Dunlop and Morsell, of the old Circuit Court-the latter being now in the 94th year of his age; Judges Cartter, Olin, Fisher, and Wilie, of the present court; John Marbury, the oldest member of the bar; W. W. Corcoran, Dr. Gunton, J. M. Carlisle, Dr. Peter Parker, Thomas Blagden, John L. Smith, late Clerk of the Circuit Court; Rev. Dr. Samson, of Columbian College; Dr. Sunderland, and Capt. The corpse was attired in a plain black suit, white shirt and neckerchief, and looked very natural. It was encased in a coffin of black walnut, covered with black cloth, and trimmed with silver, and was lined inside with plaited merino. On the breast was a massive silver Plate, bearing the inscription, "Philip Richard Fendall. Born at Alexandria, Va. Died at Washington February 16th, 1863." Before the designated hour for the funeral services to commence quite a large number of the friends of the deceased took a last look at the body.

Shortly after 12 o'clook, the Right Rev.
Bishop Johns of Virginia, Rev. Dr. Pinckney of the Church of the Ascension, and Rev. B.
Peyton Brown of the Foundry Church, entered the room, and took positions at the head of the coffin. the family being in an adjoining room.

The burial service of the Episcopal Church was read by Bishop Johns and Dr. Pinckney, after which Bishop Johns read, as the lesson, 1st Corinthians, 15th chapter, commencing at the 20th verse, and offered prayer. The Bishop (after looking at the face of the deceased) said that over fifty years are be hed first looking. that over fifty years ago he had first looked upon that face, and he remembered when they stood side by side in the class-room, and when the deceased received the first honors of the college to which he was so justly entitled. Quite half a century ago their avocations led them to different parts of the country. and he had seen that face but once since until now. He had nothing to remember but what was pleasant, for the deceased was pure and earnest, and notwithstanding the rivalry at college, he did not think that deceased ever at college, he did not think that deceased ever nttered a word or performed an act which was to be regretted. When he (the speaker) left his friend at college, he took leave of him with affection, as did all his classmates. He had described the childhood of the deceased, and would ask those among whom he had lived if he had described the childhood of such a man as they knew the deceased to have been. What as they knew the deceased to have been. What a blessing he had been to this community; what noble example he had left. He had accom plished the great purpose of social life, and raised an interesting family, and at an avanced period of life departs, amid tears of affection, sure of entering the better world. May we so live that our end may be like his. The coffin was here closed and the corpse was borne to the hearse, the following being the pall-bearers:—W. S. Mitchell, Dr. J. F. May, Judge Dunlop, Judge Wylie, Dr. J. B. Blake, J. B. H. Smith, J. C. Brent, and J. C. Maguire, and the funeral cortege proceeded to Glenwood, where the remains placed in the vault temporarily. CONSERVATIVE ARMY AND NAVY UNION .-The regular weekly meeting of the Conservative Army and Navy Union was held last evening, the president, Col. P. H. Allabach, in the chair: A. U. Chilton, secretary. Col. James R. O'Beirne, chairman of the committee appointed to make arrangements for the celebration of Washington's birthday by the Union, reported that the committee had secured the services of several prominent gentlemen, and the programme for the occasion would be:—Music by the band; opening chorus, by Arion Quartette Club; reading of Washington's Farewell Address: followed by the recital of an original poem, and the delivery of an oration. Music will intersperse the proramme, and the occasion will be otic rejoicing and enjoyment. The President then introduced Hon. Chas. E. Phelps, member of Congress from Maryland, who addressed the meeting at length on the issues of the day. He adverted to the enormous burden now imposed upon our people by taxa-tion, the manifest extravagance in the places of tashion and folly, the disturbed condition of our finances, a fearfully manifest degeneracy in the public morals of the nation; and the great aim of the people now should be to defeat Radicalism throughout the length and breadth of the land, and correct the evils which they had forced upon the country. On taking his seat, Mr. Phelps was honored with enthusiastic applause, and a vote of thanks was unanimously passed.

A resolution was adopted, requesting President Johnson to declare the 22d of February as The meeting then adjourned.

A NEW AND COMPLETE DRUG STORE.-The new drug store of Mr. S. Calvert Ford, in Shillington's new building, No. 286 Pennsylvania avenue, opposite the STAR office, is one of the most complete and well fitted establishments in the city. Mr. Ford has had a long experi-ence in the business, his former well known stand having been at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 11th street. His new store is 70 feet deep and 15 feet front, with handsome staircase and walnut band-rail in the rear of the store, leading to the upper stories. The front window is of French plate glass, bearing a handsome sign in gold. On the left of the entrance is the soda counter, with marble top, which is now used as the prescription counter. and counters with marble tops extend down the left of the store, on which are several large and costly show cases. The perfumer case in the center of the store on the left heavily carved, and surmounted with a large clock. The walls and ceiling are handsomely frescoed, and five of Tucker's patent chande liers are suspended from the ceiling. In the rear of the store is the office, which will be used as a prescription room in the summer time. Mr. Ford has stocked his new establishment with a large assortment of drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, perfumery, toilette and fancy articles, which are tastefully displayed. The frescoing was done by Mr. H. Schutter, painting by John W. Earp, and gas fitting by Shepherd & Bros.

GRAND DIVISION OF THE SONS OF TEMPER. ANCE-The Prohibition Question .- A special meeting of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of the District of Columbia was held last night at Marini's Hall, at which there was a large attendance. Resolutions were offered, discussed at length. and adopted, favoring prohibitory legislation throughout the entire jurisdiction of the Grand Division as essential to to the ultimate success of the temperance canse, and urging upon subordinate divisions to take all legitimate means to bring about this most desirable result; pro viding for the appointment of a committee to represent the views of the Grand Division to the District Committees of Congress, and urge upon them to place in all bills affecting the general interests of the District a prohibitory liquor clause; and inviting the co-operation all temperance organizations.

Messrs. Ross, Fish, (chairman) F. M. Brad-ley, John S. Hollingshead, George F. McClellan, and W. H. Chase, were appointed a committee to carry out the objects of the above resolutions, after which the committee ad-

FIRE -About 10:45 last night, an alarm of fire was sounded from box 71, (seventh precinct station-house, on the corner of F and 1st streets,) caused by fire in a three-story frame building on the corner of 3d and G streets, formerly the "Fourth Ward Market" building. now owned by a colored man named William Brown, and occupied by eight colored families, while a colored school is kept in the front room by Mrs. Wood. The fire was in the ceiling of this school room, and was communicated from the stove-pipe, which runs through the second floor and into a chimney resting on the same floor supported by wooden braces. The chimney and stove-pipe were put up in a very un-saie manner. The Metropolitan Hook and Ladder Company were soon upon the spot; the door was broken open, and the fire extinguished before the arrival of the engines. The damage to the building was slight,

THE RIVER .- Although as yet no change has taken place in affairs along the "river front," yet there are strong grounds to suppose that in a few days, if the thaw continues, a different state of things will exist. Such weather as now prevails will soon soften the ice in the Potomac, and ere the close of the week, it is believed, navigation will open. The Aquia creek mail steamers, Vanderbilt and Keyport, have not yet made an attempt to force their way down the river. To-morrow or next day, per haps, a move in this direction will be inaugu-rated. Some fears are apprehended that, when the ice does part, the floating fragments may do some damage along the shores of the Potomac, in anticipation of which precautionary steps have already been taken to meet the emergency by a number of the citizens sojourning thereabouts.

NEW CIRCLE OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF TH Union.—On Tuesday evening, a new circle of the Brotherhood of the Union was instituted at the meeting of Capitol Circle, Navy Yard, under the name of Jefferson Circle, No. 5. The charter members present were initiated and the following officers installed:—W. H. Scott, E. W.; D. Lescallet, C. W.; John H. Cunningham, C. J.; W. R. Hall, C. F.; S. Miller, C. W.; Jos. Benson, C. F.; A. Lescallet, C. G.; Stanley Clark, H. R.; D. Carrigan, H. S. K.; Thomas Berry, H. of U.; Job Nokes, W. N. The new circle is to be legated in the northern section of circle is to be located in the northern section of the city, and will hold weekly meetings on 7th street, between H and I. It starts with thirtytwo charter members.

THE SEVENTH WARD ANTI-RADICAL CLUB held a meeting last night at Island Hall, South Washington; but as the reporters of the daily press who were present were invited to leave upon the chairman calling to order, the proceedings of the evening cannot be made public.

FALL OF GRAIN.—Yesterday, a portion of the flooring of the feed establishment of Mr. P. W. Dorsey, 7th street, above the Northern Market, gave way under the corn bins, and a large quantity came down with a rush, RAID ON A DISORDERLY House. - Lieut. Eckloff, of the 7th police precinct, and a posse of his men, made a raid upon a disorderly house in that precinct about half past 10 o'clock last night, and arrested Jane Robinson, Cora Lee, Richard Harley, Sarah Shields, Mary Wheeler, Ellen Smith, Alice and Eletha Davis, Eliza M. Dowling, Alice Simpson, Arthur Brown, John Phillips, Robert Eyans, William Wheeler, and William Lewis. The former awaits a hearing upon the charge of keeping a house of ill repute. Cora Lee, charged with enticing prostitution, was fined $3 by Justice Walter. Arthur Brown, John Phillips, Wm. Wheeler and Wm. Lewis were dismissed from custody. The rest of the party, after paying a fine of $1 each for being in a disorderly gathering, were dismissed.

THE REPORTED MURDER IN FAIRPAX .- We learn that the report which has found its way into several papers that a brutal murder was committed on the Leesburg turnpike, about ten miles above Georgetown, on Thursday night last—Mrs. Patsy Mills being the victim—is incorrect in several particulars. Mrs. Mills was attacked at her house and choked, while the house was robbed of a considerable amount of money by colored thieves, and for a time she was senseless, but recovered.

THE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING. - The lesign for the new Agricultural building which has been so much admired by all who have seen the colored drawing, has been fully de-veloped, so far as externals are concerned, in the magnificent edifice itself. It has been roofed in and now presents to the eye of the beholder a most agreeable appearance. In proportions the building seems faultless, and is far the handsomest brick building in the city.

THE NEW YORK LINE.-We learned th morning at the office of the Merchants' Steamthip line that the president, Mr. Thompson has ordered the E. C. Knight to sail from New York to-day, and consignees will probably receive their freight on Monday. This is prob ably the last of the ice for this season, and shippers can order their goods now as usual, for the regular trips are now resumed, and the vessels will leave New York from pier 29 East River, every Saturday, and return, leaving Georgetown on Thursdays.

POTONAC FISHERIES.—The proprietors of the now busily engaged in preparing for the spring operations, which it is thought will probably be somewhat retarded by the long continuance of ice in the river.

BAIL FOR COURT .- Jefferson Simms, colored was arrested last evening, and taken before Justice Cull, upon the charge of committing an assault on John Chrismond. He had a hearing before the justice, and was required to give bail or conrt.

UP AGAIN.-Officer Pumphrey, of the sixth precinct, yesterday arrested Alfred Chinn, colored, who came before Justice Clark, charged with selling liquor without a license, and was fined $20 and costs.

NOT COMMITTED TO JAIL.-The statemen published in yesterday's STAR that W. H. Rodgers was committed to jail on a peace warrant was an error copied from the record.

DECEASED.—Major J. V. Vandenburg, the local superintendent of the Freedmen's Bureau has lost his father by sudden death. The Major has gone to New York to attend his funeral.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT, Justice Wylie .- Yesterday after our report closed, the testimony in the case of James C. Hyland et al., vs. Geo. Savmesne, accruing for the possession of a lot on H street, between 5th and 9th streets, from 1838 to 1866. It appears that the lot was vacant and sold for taxes in 1838, and purchased by parties through whom Mr. Savage claims title. But the law applying to tax sales had not been strictly carried out in the sale, and this lot was sometime ago recovered by action in ejectment from Mr. Savage, and the suit is now brought to recover the rents and profits received during its occupancy by Savage. Damages laid a $20,000. The case goes over until Friday next. CRIMINAL COURT, Chief Justice Cartter .-

Henry Wheeler, indicted for the pet larceny of a shawl, the property of Jas. S. Demelman and Isaac L. Blout, from their store No. 375 7th street. The jury having failed to agree, the District Attorney dismissed the case. Nathaniel S. Morgan and Julius Finnecum recognizance forfeited, and bench warrants

Thomas Lucas, receiving stolen property knowing it to be stolen. Drury for the defence The goods in question were tinner's tools, which were found in the possession of Lucas, the prisoner, having been deposited with a Mr. Marshall for safe keeping, who afterwards gave them up on her order, and a sale was made to Lucas by a man named Kinkade. The court directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty. Adjourned. To-morrow the trial of Jas. A. Becket, fo murder, will be taken up.

The election of permanent officers will be held on the first Wednesday in March One thousand shares of stock, at $200 each, will be issued, payable in semi-monthly instalments of fifty cents.

Mr. Edward Connolly, of Fairfax county Va., while going from Georgetown to his home near Lewinsville, on Wednesday last, fell from his wagon, and injured himself so that he died The Virginia Express Company has opene an office in this city, and the indications are that its operations in the future will be conducted upon an extensive scale. The Journal says:

A daring and nearly successful attempt was made by two villains, Monday night, to confiscate the smoke-stack of the Maryland ferry boat, Virginia. The latter was lying at the Maryland ferry slip in all the calmness of conscious majesty, when the desperadoes crept on board at 11 o'clock, and mounting the pilo house commenced moving the articles alluded to. They had lifted four sections, nearly two feet perpendicularly, when some of the gear ing giving way below, a creaking noise followed which put them to flight. THE APPROACHING MUNICIPAL ELECTION. Editor Star.—Local politics here are rather mixed, and that is the reason, probably why the Washington papers speak of the incorrect list of candidates heretofore published, as "the ticket," as if there was only one. The ticket referred to, may be called for convenience "the butcher's sticket," as the butcher's against the Corporation market is one of the principal issues, and that ticket is supposed to represent the butcher's interest. It is incorrect as pubhished in the Washington paper yesterday, and for some reason there appears to be trouble in selecting candidates who will accept. The latest edition of this ticket is as For Aldermen.-Joseph L. Simms, George Waters, Phillip T. Berry, Dr. Joshua Riley, and A. H. Herr. For Common Council.-Jame Goddard, James Dickson, James M. Riley, E. J. Shoemaker, John Marbury, jr., Joseph I Collins, Wm. Albert King, Wm. Clabaugh, George W. Orme, J. J. Kane, and Joseph Libbey. Of these it is doubtful if either Dr. Riley, Mr. Herr, or Mr. Marbury will serve. The opposition ticket, it is said will be a strong one, comprising several of the present members of the Councils, but one or two names are yet needed to complete it. It will probably be published to-morrow.

The Judges of election were in session vesterday at New Market Hall, engaged in correcting the poll list, and will continue their labors to-day, the law requiring them to meet three days before an election to make such corrections of the lists as may be necessary.

As COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to care the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs, As a provision against sudden attacks of Cross. It should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colde and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them. Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the CHERRY PECTORAL. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the CHERRY PECTORAL they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

ASTHMA is always relieved and often wholly cured by it. cured by it.

BRONCHITIS is generally cured by taking the CHERRY PECTORAL in small and frequent deses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully majorities.
